Hancock landowners organizing

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
An organizational meeting of the Mississippi Landowners Association's Hancock County Chapter will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Annunciation School gymnasium on Kiln-Delisle Road in Kiln.
All landowners who do not own all mineral rights are eligible to join the organization, says Theresa Coleman of Firstower Road, a group organizer.
The organization will work with chapters statewide to change Mississippi's mineral rights laws in order to grant property owners total mineral ownership, she reports.
State laws presently permit separate ownership of land and underground minerals.
Coleman also urges anyone interested to attend the meeting.
She reports receiving about 20 telephone calls from residents from all areas of Hancock and Harrison Counties following publication of her interest in establishing a local chapter in the Thursday issue of The Sea Coast Echo.
"I was amazed at how little so many people know about Mississippi's mineral rights laws. Several people who called did not realize they had no mineral rights," Coleman states.
"We realize changing state laws is an uphill battle, but landowners in other states have challenged similar mineral ownership laws and won," she notes.
Coleman says Buster Strahan of Piquette will chair the organizational meeting.
He is one of the founders of the Pearl River County State Landowners Association Chapter.

CHAMBER VISITS AMMUNITION PLANT—Col. ## Chamber members tour NSTL

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Some 45 members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce toured the National Space Technology Laboratories Thursday.
Chamber members were greeted at NSTL's Visitors Center by Mack Herring, National Aeronautics and Space Administration public affairs officer and given a welcome by Roy Estess, deputy manager of NSTL.
Col. Walter Busbee, commander of the $450 million Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant now nearing completion, told the group how employment should increase from the present 360 to over 900 by the end of 1983.

Estess gave a brief break-down of the role played by NSTL which was formerly the Mississippi Test Facility when the Hancock site was selected in 1961 with construction beginning in 1963.
Estess emphasized, "The 125,327 acres of land serving as the buffer zone makes NSTL the only place in the United States capable of testing the shuttle engines."
"An item of great concern for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is, as of April 1, 1982, 25 percent of the work force at NSTL live in Hancock County," Estess stated.
The working force at the test facility was described as being 3,360, with 25 percent being from Hancock, Harrison, and Pearl River Counties; also 20 percent from St. Tammany Parish and five percent from other areas.

Projections at NSTL for 1985 set employment at 4,100, Estess reported.
Busbee estimated the work force of 361 will increase to about 500 by the end of 1982 and 900 when the munitions plant is in full operation at the end of 1983.
Busbee said safety is the prime concern of the munitions plant and added, "The employees will be issued each day a special cotton uniform which will be laundered in our own facility. This is to keep even the smallest of particles from leaving the area."
Bunkers are under construction to house the grenades to be placed into the shells to be manufactured at the facility and a remote area for the storage of the shells before shipping by rail or truck.
The chamber membership was given a briefing on the Space Shuttle's test control center by personnel of ROTOR—Page 11A

Special program offered at NSTL

The Visitors Center at the National Space Technology Laboratories Monday through Friday will observe the 21st anniversary of America's first manned space flight.
Special presentations will mark the anniversary of Astronaut Alan Shepard's Freedom Seven flight which took place May 5, 1961. The historic mission lasted 15 minutes and the spacecraft reached an altitude of 118 miles.
As part of the observance, NSTL's Visitors Center will feature films depicting programs of the U.S. space program from Mercury, Gemini, Apollo, Skylab and up to the ongoing Space Shuttle program.
Special luncheon presentations will be given by NSTL's Deputy Manager, Roy Estess, and other officials.
The program will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Visitors Center and is free of charge. For more information, call 467-9031 or 467-9032.

Banks blasts patron's letter

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Several Hancock County School Board members at a Saturday morning meeting objected to a report in the Thursday issue of The Sea Coast Echo citing an apparent violation of the state's Open Meetings Law by the board.
At a Wednesday morning meeting the board met in executive session for about one hour to discuss a classroom building project and finances for that program.
No school patrons or county residents attended the Wednesday or Saturday meetings.

Louie Ladner, a board member, said he felt discussing the district's budget and finances in a closed meeting was not a violation of the law.
He asked Joseph Gex, board attorney, if the executive session violated the law and he replied "no."
But Gex or any board member could not state specifically what portion of the state law allows a closed discussion of taxpayers' money for use in a classroom building program.
Johnny Banks, a board member, stated, "I've got slapped on both sides of my face for two years and I'm tired of it."

Woodrow Ladner, board vice president and meeting chairman, in an attempt to cool the discussion said, "I don't think this will accomplish anything. We're trying to provide the best program for our students and also provide the best facilities."
"But some things thrown at us are hard to take. I think this kind of publicity isn't doing the best for our district," he added.
Banks also blasted a Letter to the Editor published in the Thursday issue from Lennette Necaise of the Rocky Hill Community which criticized the board's handling of emergency work to replace an inoperative water well pump at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton.
"I want this guy (newspaper reporter) to get this to the public. I recommend the pump be taken off the well at Charles B. Murphy and the

Bay High, OLA take state tennis titles

By EDGAR PEREZ
Four tennis players from Bay St. Louis high schools captured state championship honors in tournament play Thursday and Friday in Jackson.
Mike Barnes and Rickey Ladner of Bay Senior High captured the Single A boys doubles titles, and Lime Cabell and Ann Moran are the 1982 Double B girls doubles state champs.

Bay High's mixed doubles team of Chris Proulx and Karen Ladner lost in Single A finals to Leland High, 6-4 and 6-3.
Barnes and Ladner handily defeated four teams in a decisive march to their state championship, dumping New Albany in the finals Friday 6-3, 6-3.
The Tiger duo trounced St. Joseph of Jackson 6-2, 6-4 in semifinal action; humiliated Alcorn Central 6-1, 6-1 in the quarterfinals, and had an easy opening round Thursday against Winona, 6-2, 6-3.
OLA Crescents Cabell and Moran polished off Richton in quarterfinals, 6-1, 6-0; blanked Raymond in semifinals, 6-0, 6-0; and gave the crowd a little more for its money in the finals, wasting Shaw 6-2, 6-3.
Pictures of the new state champs are in today's Sea Coast Echo Sports Section, Page 10-A.

Suspicious drowning under investigation

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Law enforcement agencies are investigating circumstances surrounding the death of an Ohio man whose body washed up on Waveland's beach Friday evening.
Waveland Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille Saturday said, "A couple was walking on the beach near Blenville Drive when they noted an object they thought was a body floating in the water."
"They contacted George LaBrecche of 807 North Beach Boulevard in Waveland who summoned authorities. Waveland Firefighters Glen Jackson, John Holderman and Billy Field Jr. pulled the body ashore," Tartavouille stated.
Authorities listed the victim as James Alexander Saho, 27, of Rural Delivery 1, Janet Drive, Bloomingdale, Ohio.
Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson Saturday reported, "A rope about three-eighths of an inch with two knots was used to tie the victim's hands in front of him."
"There is definitely foul play involved in this death," Peterson noted.
Carl Banderet, Hancock coroner Saturday afternoon said an autopsy was performed late Friday night and cause of death will be listed as "probable drowning."
The body seemed to have been in the water for about 24 hours. There was a small amount of water in the victim's stomach and a small bruise was found behind the left ear where he was evidently struck with something," Banderet stated.
Authorities Saturday said they have been able to trace Saho's whereabouts for two weeks ago when he was on the beach working out of Galveston, Tex. They are now trying to trace his whereabouts just prior to Friday.
Those involved in the investigation are the Waveland Police Department, Hancock County Sheriff's Office, Mississippi Highway Patrol, and the U.S. Coast Guard. Officers at the scene Friday night included Tartavouille, Waveland Investigator Sandra Henley, Peterson, Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner, Jackson, Banderet, Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn, Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson, and T.P. Naylor, senior investigator of the Coastal Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the State Highway Patrol.

Louisiana licenses available

Louisiana is reopening the period for receiving shrimp license applications, according to Dr. Richard Leard, director of the Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach.

Originally Jan. 1-31 were days for applying for this license, Leard said.

However, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will now receive applications for shrimp licenses from April 29 through May 15.

"Anyone who has not applied for a shrimp license and wishes to do so should apply for the license within this time period," Leard said.

Applications will be taken at 400 Royal Street, New Orleans, La. between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Leard noted applicants will probably have to bring boat documentation or registration papers with them.

Hattiesburg High Councilman addresses Waveland Mormons

Talmage Spiers of the High Council of the Hattiesburg Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints discussed salvation through Christ at the Waveland Wards April 18 regularly scheduled sacrament meeting.

Subject of the special program was a "Christ Centered Church."

Spiers, of McNeill, has been a Mormon since the age of eight and has served in many callings in the church, from councilman in the Mississippi District from '48 to '52, to his present calling as high councilman in Hattiesburg.

He has been a member of the McNeill Ward since its organization in '43.

His work as high councilman includes advisory positions in the Primary and Melchizedek Priesthood programs.

He is assigned as a special advisor to the Piquette Ward where he aids all aspects of growth.

"Some people, even in this day of education and enlightenment, profess to believe in Christ, but rather have some mystical theology based on a belief in Joseph Smith, or Brigham Young, or Mormon," Spiers said.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," he emphasized.

Bible doctrine is Mormon doctrine, and Mormon doctrine is Bible doctrine. They are one and the same," he continued.

"The Latter Day Saints' hearts are centered in Christ and the salvation wrought and which he has offered to mankind on conditions of obedience," Spiers added.

"This is Christ's true church; as it was in His day it is again today," the speaker stated.

"There is no other name given under heaven save the name of Jesus Christ, of which I have spoken, whereby man can be saved — We talk of Christ. We rejoice in Christ, we preach of Christ, we prophesy of Christ, and we write according to our prophecies, that our children may know to what source they may look for a remission of their sins," he concluded.

The Waveland Ward invites anyone interested to attend its Sunday meetings at the corner of Nicholson and McLaughlin Streets in Waveland.

Sacraments are offered from 9 to 10 a.m. Sunday School, 10 to 11 a.m. and priesthood, Relief Society, and Youth Organization meetings from 11 a.m. to noon. Primary is held from 10 a.m. to noon.

Latter-Day Saints official urges control of temper

James Hayes of the High Council of the Hattiesburg Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints discussed 'Temper, Anger and Guilt' at a recent meeting of the Pearlington Branch of the church.

Hayes said that tempers can lead to disobedience of many of the Commandments. "We should strive to overcome our anger in order to reach toward perfection."

"Reading and studying the Scriptures daily, praying often and earnestly, and being forgiving of others are aids to controlling anger," Hayes feels.

He noted that Brigham Young, second president of the Mormon Church, directed his people to go off to themselves when they become angry and to get down on their knees and pray, "even if they found praying difficult."

He quoted Young as saying, "Do not get so angry that you cannot pray."

"Our tempers can get us into the depths of hell," Hayes told his listeners.

Also speaking to the Pearlington congregation was Brother Preston Spiers of the Piquette Ward of the Church.

In a speech entitled "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," Spiers said that birth does not mark the beginning of existence nor does death mark the end.

He said, "Earth is a proving ground—a testing station. There is hope and promise beyond this life or beyond the veil."

Effective May 1, the Department of Public Welfare is instituting a new system based on income for our pensioners. Our seniors who have been receiving the Center which they had looked to do at first. Each pensioner will be interviewed separately by the Welfare Social Worker and notified at that time what the fee will be. DON'T PANIC! We will be working with anyone having a problem.

Mostly the fees will be less than $3 a month, with a good many not paying any. Your letters to the various public officials were read and I think they have a better understanding of your needs now than they did at first. You were effective - they backed down. We have our Center and are funded through September 30. Now - write your U.S. Congressmen and Senators to be sure they do not cut us any more than they have. If you write - they will listen.

BIRTHDAY-GAMES PARTY

We are having our parties every other month now so we can have better prizes and refreshments. As you know, Edmond Fahey Funeral Home provides birthday prizes, the Eatery and Danny's Fried Chicken provide luncheon prizes, the Bay St. Louis and Waveland American Legions provide cash prizes.

Bits 'n pieces

Thursday was a very fine day for a tour at NSTL by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The group which consisted of 45 persons really enjoyed the Southern Hospitality extended to them by the officials at NSTL.

We feel one of the biggest newest items for Hancock County was the announcement that of the 3,360 employment at NSTL on April 1, 1982, Hancock County had 24 percent of the total.

This is the first time we have had a good representation of employment at the site and feel it is good to know that more than 800 people who live in Hancock County are employed at NSTL.

Col. Walter Busbee, who is in charge of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, also gave us good news when he reported there will be an increase in the work force when manufacturing begins.

Projections at NSTL given by Roy Estees, deputy manager, placed 1985 employment at 4,100 which if it holds will be a big plus for Hancock.

Everyone was impressed with the visit to the test site's control center and the explanation given by Rocketdyne's personnel.

We hope others who were unable to make the chamber's tour will drop by NSTL some day and see just what goes on in western Hancock County. If you haven't been there before, you will really be surprised.

It was a very nice gesture on the part of the members of the Bay St. Louis Police Department in giving a 'Welcome Back' luncheon for Chief Douglas Williams Friday.

The chief really enjoyed the big surprise and like the members of the Bay PD, we are glad he is now back in force.

An increase of 500 families filing for Homestead Exemption for 1982 over 1981 shows a good growth for Hancock County in one year.

The continued growth in population is one thing industry and jobs bring to a community.

We would really be worried if we were losing residents like many areas of the nation are today.

We know many folks are out of work in Hancock, but hope the worst is over and more jobs will be opening up in the future.

Carbon monoxide is urban health risk

Carbon monoxide, a major component of automobile emissions, poses a health threat to some city dwellers, according to the American Medical Association.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, poisonous gas produced when the space normally occupied by oxygen. Thus, it prevents the blood from carrying oxygen to body tissues. In extreme circumstances, this causes asphyxiation.

Carbon monoxide poses a special health risk for people with coronary heart disease and emphysema, but healthy people also are affected. Small increases in carbon monoxide have been found to cause changes in the nervous system, affecting vision as well as the ability to judge time intervals and relative brightness of objects.

It takes inactive people longer to absorb carbon monoxide into their blood than active people. Probably for this reason, many automobile accidents are avoided because drivers are sitting and their exposure to rush hour carbon monoxide levels is too brief to affect their driving ability.

These levels may reach three times those usually found in urban areas and five times those found in residential areas.

Occupational exposure to carbon monoxide also may be uncomfortably high, particularly for employees of parking garages and motor vehicle inspection centers, toll booth attendants, auto tunnel workers and bus drivers. Smoking raises the level of carbon monoxide in the blood even further.

Science News Service

fossil fuels, such as coal and gasoline, are burned.

In cities, most of the carbon monoxide in the air comes from gasoline-powered automobiles; some comes from industrial processes and refuse burning; and a smaller percentage comes from natural sources.

Carbon monoxide becomes a serious health hazard when it is present in excessive amounts. It attaches to the hemoglobin in red blood cells, taking up

REBUILDING SCOUT TROOP—The Knights of Columbus Pere Le Duc Council are helping Boy Scout Troop No. 217 sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church re-organize with Roy Masson as scoutmaster. Last weekend John Kergosien, left, and Jean Larroux, members of the troop, display tents currently being used which need replacement. The KC's are having several fund raising events from which they will turn proceeds over to the troop for the purchase of new camping equipment. Masson said the troop meets Tuesday nights at 7 p.m. in the scout hall behind OLG and now has 17 members. Boys interested in joining the troop can contact Masson at one of the meetings. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I'm seeing more and more ads on my cable tv. Why should I pay for the cable and then have to look at ads on it? What can I do? Cable Fan.

Dear Cable Fan: Change channels, I guess.

I assume the amount you pay is adequate to support the cable service. If it were not, it could be that the company is selling ads in order to keep down the cost to you.

In some markets the cable may lease a channel or two to local interests who may include ad sales in their approach to programming. Some newspapers have also done this to expand their community news offerings.

But back to your question, you also pay for your newspaper and it has advertising included in each issue.

One difference in this and the cable tv is that advertisers pay a large portion of the production cost of the newspaper. The cable tv is being paid by you. However, an even greater difference may be the matter of choice you get to exercise in your utilization of the two media.

With a newspaper you can read it when you want to. You can read the ads or skip the ads until later. You can look at each page from first to last or start in the middle or at the back.

With the tv-cable you must be there at the beginning, or you have missed the start of the show forever. When ads are scheduled, they come on whether you are ready or not.

So, I feel the main difference is not so much the ads, but the loss of choice you have to sacrifice.

It's no different from regular commercial tv, except you must pay the cable fee in addition to the purchase of a tv set.

Washington Report

By Congressman Trent Lott

5th District, Mississippi

GOING THE EXTRA MILE

Eleven members of the Congress and six administration representatives have been meeting privately now for almost three weeks, locked in intensive discussions involving the federal budget for 1983 and two years beyond. I have been fortunate in some ways to be one of those 17 people, and the historic nature of the sessions has been interesting. If we can reach agreement on ways to limit the budget deficit over the next three years, it will fundamentally change the way Congress does business.

The discussions have been exceptionally hard-nosed over basic philosophical differences among the parties, Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives.

We have grappled with regional concerns, a time-consuming thing which I had hoped could be avoided. We have wrestled with ways to limit the increases in defense spending without hurting American's need to re-build its military.

We have considered the need to get a handle on spending for such programs as food stamps, Medicare, Medicaid, retirement systems and others because of their spiraling costs. We have considered how best to close tax loopholes which are being used by some to escape their fair share of the tax burden.

In all, we have identified 11 specific areas which were essentially open for discussions and reductions.

Our intent going into the discussions was to come up with a compromise budget package that would have strong bi-partisan support in Congress and the support of the President. The President has offered to go the extra mile and make concessions he wouldn't ordinarily make.

But, it's also important that the Democrat members representing the Speaker of the House, Tip O'Neill, not play politics with the country's desperate need to stabilize its economy. They must also be willing to give some ground to ensure equity.

Frankly, the frustrating part of the meetings is that too much ground has been given on the defense and tax revenue side, and not enough in meaningful spending cuts.

The liberals have made precious few proposals of their own, preferring to sit back and say "no" to those proposals which would really cut spending. The kind of numbers they have been putting on the table amount to staggering tax increases, not spending reductions.

That's not acceptable, not to me, not to our side of the table, not to the American people.

The old philosophy of "tax and spend" over the past quarter century got us into the economic mess in which we find ourselves. It is the problem, not the solution.

At this writing, no compromise has been reached. And, until the free-sending liberals in the House of Representatives decide to put the best interests of the country ahead of petty partisan politics, an agreement will be very hard to come by.

BE A GOOD CITIZEN....

Wouldn't it be nice to have a clean city for our children to grow up in? Children learn by example, teach your child not to litter.

LITTLE SISTERS MEET BIG SISTERS—Poolside at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel was the setting Saturday for the first meeting of 51 Miss USA Pageant contestants and their 'Little Sisters.' Parents and 'sisters' became better acquainted over a hotdog lunch while parts of the affair were being video taped for play-back during the Miss USA telecast Thursday, May 13. Local youngsters selected as little sisters are Mallica Strom, left, Bay St. Louis, with her counterpart Miss Minnesota, Lour Jean Kmetz; India McDonald, Pass Christian, with Miss West Virginia, Cynthia Robin Baniak; and Ivy Lynn Molitor, Bay St. Louis, and her big sister Miss Connecticut, Maureen Szekers.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS—Members of the security force assigned to cover the Miss USA contestants during their stay on the Coast try to figure out how to use the various cameras entrusted to them by the girls. "Will you take our picture?" and "This one's for momma" were common requests the officers heard.

Extradition of county jail escapee pending

By BRENT MACEY

Whether a Hancock County man will waive extradition to the state in Pennsylvania and be returned to this county to face charges of rape escape is uncertain, Hancock County Sheriff Howard Peterson said Friday.

Peterson noted slinky Jordan was convicted of rape last year and was apprehended at approximately 11:30 p.m. Thursday by the Homestead, Pa. Police Department at his mother's residence in that state.

Jordan was one of four prisoners who escaped from the Hancock County Jail in Bay St. Louis April 18.

Three of the escapees have been recaptured.

Peterson reported, "We had been coordinating search efforts with the Homestead Police Department and we had sources who said he (Jordan) was heading to Pennsylvania." "Prior to his arrest the Homestead police had searched Mrs. Jordan's house to no avail. But we requested the house be kept under surveillance," Peterson added.

Arrested with Jordan was a 16-year-old Hancock girl who fled with Jordan from this county.

Peterson said the juvenile is being held in the Shuman Juvenile Center in Pittsburgh, Pa. and will be charged with aiding and abetting a fugitive upon her return to Mississippi.

Another Hancock juvenile will also be charged with the same crime, Peterson said.

"We feel Jordan stayed in a house close to the Hancock County Jail since

After escaping until Monday morning, Peterson said, "I am glad the proceedings will be held in the morning, because an execution would be a disgrace to the state."

Johnson remained 10 years in the jail and the Penitentiary in Hannan last year for the rape of a woman.

He escaped last fall, was recaptured and sentenced to an additional five years for his escape.

Three other prisoners escaped with Jordan the second time. Two others have also been recaptured and only one, Frank Brown Jr., 23, indicted for armed robbery, is still at large.

Peterson noted Brown should be apprehended soon.

The other two prisoners; Charles Tague, convicted of two counts of burglary by the April term of the Hancock County Circuit court; and Steve Sylvester, indicted for burglary and also charged with three counts of aiding and abetting a fugitive, were both recaptured recently.

SMITH CAPTURED
Peterson also reported a prisoner who escaped April 5 was recently apprehended and is now in Hancock Jail.
"George Smith was indicted by the Hancock Grand Jury for aggravated assault and armed robbery of an amputee," the sheriff stated.
"Peterson said Smith was apprehended by St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's Department deputies in Sil-dell.
Smith escaped from the jail by breaking a lock, Peterson noted.

Purvis dealer suspended

Oscar Black III, of Purvis, Miss., has agreed to a suspension of his livestock dealer business to settle charges that he operated while insolvent, issued insufficient funds checks, and failed to pay promptly for more than $300,000 worth of livestock, a U.S. Department of Agriculture official said recently.

B.H. (Bill) Jones, Packers and Stockyards administrator, said Black has been suspended for six months and afterwards until he shows he is no longer insolvent.

Black agreed to the order without admitting or denying the charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA in March. He waived his right to a hearing.

Doing business as Black Cattle Co. and Black Order Buyers, Inc., Black bought livestock throughout Mississippi. He may not operate as a livestock dealer or market agency while the suspension is in effect.

USDA Administrative Law Judge Victor W. Palmer also ordered Black to cease and desist from operating as a dealer while he is insolvent, issuing insufficient funds checks, and failing to pay promptly for livestock.

The cease and desist order, like a permanent injunction, was issued to insure future compliance with the PDS Act.

Livestock dealers are required under the Act to maintain a solvent financial position and to pay promptly for livestock unless credit has been arranged in advance. Issuing insufficient funds checks is considered to be an unfair trade practice.

The PDS Act is a fair trade practices law, designed to promote and maintain fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

Banks.....

school be closed down," Banks stated. "If anybody has any questions about this, they can call Lennette Necaise. I'm tired of all that damn (expletive deleted) being said like that," he said.

"We have a Beat Four election in November. If those people are so smart, they ought to run. I'm tired of this," Banks added.

Banks' remarks drew 'no, no' and grumbles from board members.

Louise Laddner stated, "I'd like to pass on to our employees that I appreciate their efforts with the undue pressures they've been experiencing because of the adverse publicity the district has received."

In deference to the board's approval Saturday of Billy Laddner as district maintenance manager effective July 1, Banks criticized all local newspapers because of a daily newspaper's report that Billy Ladner was promoted to that position at the Wednesday meeting.

"They (the press) don't know what the hell they're talking about. The press said we hired him (Billy Ladner) already," Banks added.

In other business at the 9 a.m. meeting at the Dan M. Russell Sr. Memorial Youth Court Center in Bay St. Louis, the board:

- Approved a dues payment to the Commission on Elementary Schools of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools for the 1982-1983 school year. The amount of dues to be paid was not specified;
- Approved a May 3 field trip for third grade students, two teachers and three aides of Gulfview Elementary School, to St. Mary's Dominican College, a planetarium and ride streetcar, all in New Orleans.

SCREENING ROOM ONLY

BY—DAVID H. JONES

In his new film 'Richard Pryor: Live on Sunset Strip,' Pryor's approach to comedy resembles that of a latter-day Lenny Bruce.

And like the late comedian who destroyed himself with heroin, Pryor nearly destroyed himself via freebasing cocaine.

After more than a year recuperating from the severe burns he received in the accident, Pryor is back...still profane and funny as ever but with an edge of seriousness that cuts straight for the heart.

Lenny Bruce used to take the quotidian and make fun of it. His comedy was abstract and was the harbinger of humor for George Carlin, Steve Martin and the Saturday Night Live crew.

Pryor has advanced that comedy to another level. His nuances and eye for detail are impeccable. He has dialects that seem to fly out of nowhere and they always hit the mark. He changes person and persona like a Gatling gun.

Live on Sunset Strip is a filmed concert which Pryor wrote and produced for $4.2 million. In five weeks the film has already taken in nearly $31 million. A nice profit margin for a man who stands on a stage and espouses his beliefs on love, Reagan, Africa, drugs and friendship.

The film itself starts off slowly and a little hesitantly, mainly because Pryor seems very nervous. But as the gears begin to click and as Pryor works into his timing, the monologue takes on new and different meanings. In a piece about being taken hostage, Pryor interjects jokes about having a gun pulled on you but there's a real fiber of fear running through this piece.

Pryor really hits stride about midway through the 90-minute program when he personifies the animals of Africa. There's a great bit about two cheetahs waiting for a herd of gazelles to wander further away—to give them more of a sporting chance. He takes on two different personalities and plays the cheetahs just passing time. During this Wild Kingdom discourse, Pryor also plays a rabbit, a lion and a buzzard. Then the very serious side of Pryor bursts through as he tells about the accident that nearly cost him his life. In this segment he plays three different roles; himself being led merrily along the road to self-destruction, the freebasing pipe which is constantly telling him to do more and his friend, former football great and film star Jim Brown.

It is here that the trauma of what really happened shows through. And then, true to Pryor form, he ends with a joke about himself on fire and then the camera freezes a shot of Pryor smiling.

The credits begin to roll and Aretha Franklin starts belting out the classic soul tune, Respect. It is an appropriate ending for a man who has survived an ordeal.

Pryor has always been the subject of controversy. His movies, concerts and albums have always been under close scrutiny and in some cases censorship.

Richard Pryor: Live on Sunset Strip is no exception. It contains harsh language and the subject matter is considerably different from the regular fanfare. But for those who can take it, Richard Pryor is a new man with new ideas that need expression.

NEW FILMS IN TOWN

(1) Porky's: This Son-of-Animal-House continues to draw the big crowds. It is the surprise hit of the season taking in more than $53 million in one month.

(2) Arthur: Starring Dudley Moore and John Gielgud. This is probably one of the funniest movies ever made. Moore plays Arthur, a drunken millionaire who is cared for by a condescending butler underplayed beautifully by Gielgud. Gielgud's comedic timing is astounding and it earned him an Academy Award for best supporting actor this year. The title song written by Burt Bacharach and Carol Bayer Sager and sung by Grammy-winner Christopher Cross also won an Oscar.

(3) Some Kind of Hero: If you read my column with any regularity, you may remember the review I gave this film a few weeks ago. I was a bit disappointed by the treatment of James Kirkwood's novel but the film redeems itself through the fine, hard-edged performance given by Richard Pryor (again). It is an uneven film and choppy but still worth seeing.

(4) The Amateur: A small film starring John Savage as a CIA agent who takes matters into his own hands.

MEASUREMENT SERVICE

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offers a variety of measurement services to farmers. Franklin Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office said these measurement services are based on rates which reflect the costs of performing the work.

Among the services which are available are cropland measurement, early measurement of permitted acreage, and measurement of conservation use acreage.

Many farmers are taking advantage of the cropland measurement service for areas of new land and other areas where for various reasons the acreages are not known. Persons who request and receive the cropland measurement service will also receive an enlarged infra-red picture of the measured areas showing current ground features, for a small additional charge.

After plantings are complete, farmers who participate in the 1982 program must report their plantings of program crops (barley, cotton, corn, grain sorghum, oats, wheat, peanuts, and rice) in order to be eligible for program benefits. In addition, reduced acreages must be determined. Early measurement can provide the means for making an accurate report of crop acreage and reduced acreages which are devoted to conserving uses.

All measurement services provided in Pearl River-Hancock Counties including cropland measurement, early crop measurement, and measurement of conserving use acreage, will be performed by use of aerial slides when they are available or by surface measurement.

Farmers interested in measurement service are urged to make their request by no later than May 5.

McGehee School to host miniature, doll house show

The Third Annual Deep South Miniature and Doll House Show will be held May 14-16 at McGehee School in New Orleans. This exhibit is the largest show of its kind in Louisiana and is sponsored by the Louise S. McGehee School Parents' League.

The show will feature 50 dealers and craftsmen and a number of private collections from throughout the United States. For the first time this year there will be a Junior Collector's Corner, open to any school-age youth in Louisiana, and workshops.

The dealers will display and sell wares which run the gamut in miniature. Included will be: tuned, stringed, musical instruments (valued at $1,000 each), glass blowing, a cobbler's workshop, readable books, jade and

Public invited to hear Shroud investigator today

A member of the Shroud of Turin Research Project will address a public session Sunday, May 2, beginning at 3 p.m. at the Gulf Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

Residents of the coast and visitors to the area are invited to attend the lecture, sponsored by the Mississippi State Medical Association. There is no admission charge.

For six centuries the Shroud of Turin, believed by many to be the burial garment of Jesus Christ, has been the topic of discussion and debate. That discussion has intensified in recent years with the application of sophisticated scientific tests to determine the authenticity of the artifact.

Dr. Robert Bucklin, Los Angeles deputy medical examiner and member of the Shroud of Turin Research Project, will describe the investigation and will discuss his interpretation of the team's findings at a public session scheduled in conjunction with his appearance at the Mississippi State Medical Association's 114th Annual Session in Biloxi.

Dr. Bucklin will address the MSMA's Section on Pathology prior to the public session.

Although definite proof has not yet been established, most of the investigators, including Dr. Bucklin, have noted that there is evidence to support the shroud's authenticity.

Dr. Bucklin, a forensic pathologist, will emphasize the medically significant imprints on the shroud. He will also relate the history of the 14-foot linen cloth, and describe various scientific tests which were conducted by the 40-member team of scientists.

Using the latest technology in such disciplines as pathology, photography and computer science, the researchers were able to provide new insights into the shroud, including a detailed physical description of the man depicted on its face, a description of wounds, and a precise medical opinion on the cause of his death.

Many people have noted that the description of wounds suffered by the man depicted on the shroud is remarkably consistent with gospel accounts of Jesus' crucifixion. Studies in this century concluded that the cloth was almost certainly ancient and quite possibly 2,000 years old. One study of the fabric discovered the presence of pollen native to the Holy Land, and another recent study commented on the imprint of Roman coins on the cloth, noting that the coins were ancient. The shroud first came into public attention in the 1350s, when it was exhibited by the de Charney family in Lire, France.

Since the 1450s it has been in the possession of the Italian royal family, the House of Savoia. A fire destroyed the shroud in Chambery, France, where the shroud was kept at that time, scorching the fabric.

In 1878 the shroud was moved to the Cathedral of San Giovanni Battista in Turin, Italy.

For a time the shroud was exhibited annually, but in the 19th century it appeared in public only five times. In this century it was exhibited only in 1981 and 1978.

There's an Answer!

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, AND RUTH PEALE

Wants to die

Q. I have a hard time accepting my life the way it is today. I spend a lot of time wondering why I must go on living. I pray constantly to accept the fact that God has plans for me. I want Him to take away my desire for death. What will help me?

A. There are always likely to be things in life that are difficult to accept. But we must live in the world as it is, meanwhile doing our bit to improve the quality of life.

God does have a plan for your life and if you would know what that plan is, approach Him in a loving attitude of faith rather than doubt.

Remember Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10). God wants you to live and enjoy it.

Fr. Joseph Guidry, SVD

to mark Silver Jubilee

Rev. Joseph Guidry, SVD, 56, a Divine Word Missionary, will celebrate his silver jubilee as a priest Sunday, May 9 at Sacred Heart Church in Greenville.

A concelebrated mass of thanksgiving will be held at 5 p.m. with a reception in the church hall immediately following the liturgy.

Concelebrating with Fr. Guidry will be fellow SVD priests and diocesan clergy stationed in the area. They will be joined by family and friends.

The minor seminary at Bay St. Louis was also Fr. Guidry's first mission appointment. He was dean of students from 1957-1959. From 1959-1963 he was assistant pastor at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Lafayette, La., the SVD's first and largest black Catholic parish.

In 1963 Fr. Joe became pastor-director of St. Gabriel's Mission, Mound Bayou, Miss.

In 1970 he returned to Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish, Lafayette, as pastor, a post he held for eight years.

Since the summer of 1978, Fr. Guidry has worked and ministered to the people of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Greenville.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." — John 10:10

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Tragic, isn't it? So many Christian couples are struggling in marriages that fall far short of their hopes. Once the first excitement wears off and marriage settles down to a routine, they discover to their horror that they aren't even very good friends.

Millions of couples agonize, "Is this as good as marriage gets? Some are destined for divorce, while many more are doomed to marriages that are empty and unsatisfying.

One popular author estimates that in only one of 25 marriages are the husband and wife thriving as both lovers and friends.

But it doesn't have to be that way. The quality of marriages can be enriched — excitement can be restored to relationships that have grown cold.

The key, it would seem, is to get back to the original map, the pattern, the blueprint for marriage. But where is this set of directions; this original manual? Who ordained marriage in the first place?

Was it some ancient government? Or was it simply a custom handed down over the centuries?

In the book of beginnings, Genesis, the inspired writer of old records: "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them." (Genesis 1:27 NIV).

The same who created you and I also began the great and grand institutions of marriage and the family.

When God saw that Adam was without a partner he said, "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a helper suitable for him," Genesis 2:18 NIV. And in Genesis 2:24 we see the decree by God concerning the beginning of all marriage relationships. "For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife and they will become one flesh."

And so it stands to reason that if we are having problems in our 20th Century marriage relationships, it is not because the institution of marriage is bad. Rather, it is because we have strayed from the designer's grand blueprint for this unique relationship.

Let me encourage you and your spouse to study God's Word concerning this greatest of all earthly relationships. To get started let me recommend once again Genesis, Chapters One and

Two. Also the much-neglected Song of Solomon will help you catch something of the beautiful and poetic emotions of the marriage encounter.

Lastly, Ephesians, Chapter 5 is very helpful as well.

There are many other great passages as well to help you to enjoy the 'abundant life' that God intended for you to enjoy.

Upcoming to the Bay in June will be a marriage enrichment film series, recognized to be the best marriage films available anywhere!

Keep your eye on the Echo for further details. May God bless you with a marriage drawn up from Heaven's blueprints!
